The story of women on the march for freedom and justice during the 2013-2014 Ukrainian Revolution of Dignity. Women’s behind-the-scenes leadership during this winter uprising allowed thousands of people to remain standing in Maidan Square, withstanding both the intense elements and ruthless attacks by security forces. The stance that these women held resulted in the ultimate resignation of authoritarian president Viktor Yanukovych.

Sometimes standing behind the cause takes as much courage as dying for it.
